POPE NAMES SEVEN NEW CARDINALS.

Bears Up Well Through Ceremonies at Consistory, the Session Being Made Brief.

OLD-TIME SECRECY OBSERVED.

In the Throne Room of the Vatican the Pontiff Afterwards Receives the Homage of New Archbishops and Bishops.

Rome, June 22.—The consistory to-day specially important owing to the persistent rumors regarding Pope's ill health and the previous postponements.

Naturally, a ceremony in which the Pope, half hidden in vestments, is borne on a chair and is continually assisted is not the best opportunity to judge of his appearance or the state of his health, but a man capable of undergoing the strain of such a function has plenty of vitality.

The Pontiff's features seemed slightly more clear cut and his hands trembled perceptibly, but his voice is plainly heard, though it has lost something of its power. The ceremony was shortened as much as possible and only lasted about thirty-five minutes.

All the Cardinals of the curia were invited to the Vatican half an hour before the Pope's appearance, and they assembled in the consistory hall in order of precedence and formed a striking picture.

The entrance of the Pope, clad in white vestments and surrounded by his trusted companions in their red robes, gave a finishing touch to the scene.

After receiving the homage of those present the Pontiff recited a prayer and then proceeded to the nomination of the new Cardinals.

The traditional secrecy was maintained, though now it is largely a matter of form. The Pope proposed each new Cardinal, the members of the Sacred College signifying their assent by raising their hands.

NEW CARDINALS.
The following were created Cardinals: Mgr. Fischer, Archbishop of Cologne; Mgr. Tallani, Papal Nuncio at Vienna; Mgr. Cavieconi, secretary of the Congregation of the Council; Mgr. Ajuti, Papal Nuncio at Lisbon; Mgr. Rossi, secretary of the Consistorial Congregation; Mgr. Katschthaler, Archbishop of Salzburg, Austria; the Most Reverend Herro y Espinosa, Archbishop of Valencia.

The Pope transferred Cardinal Serafini Vanutelli from the bishopric of Frascati to the bishopric of Santa Rufina, which is of higher rank.

Cardinal Satolli was transferred from the bishopric of Viterbo to the bishopric of Aviano, to the diocese of Frascati, near Rome, the summer residence of the Roman aristocracy.

Afterwards the Pope announced the nominations of several Archbishops who had been appointed by brief. The first was the Pontiff appointed Cardinal Agliardi to be Vice Chancellor of the Chiesa della Vigilia.

At the conclusion of the consistory the Pope went to the throne room, where, surrounded by the Cardinals and the papal court, he received the homage of the new Archbishops and Bishops. The ancient ceremonial was observed, each of the prelates kissing the Pontiff's foot and receiving the apostolic benediction.

Proceeding to the residence of Mgr. Fischer, Cavieconi and Novelli, announced their appointments and informed them that the Pope would bestow the red hats on them at a public consistory, to be held at the summer residence of the Roman aristocracy.

Specially selected members of the Noble Guard will be sent to officially convey the news to appointees who are abroad.

NEW ARRESTS EXPECTED IN JOHNSON MURDER.

Detectives Believe Plot Was Hatched to Kill Mrs. Chilton—Obtain Names of Accessories.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Birch Tree, Mo., June 22.—Detectives at work on the murder of little Della Johnson, whose head was almost severed from her body while she slept, are said to have received information to the effect that the murderer intended to kill Mrs. Charles Chilton, and that the plans for the assassination were already laid.

Numerous threats had been made against her. Two or three persons are said to have been of the intention to kill Mrs. Chilton in connection with the case expected at any moment.

Saturday night probably was selected by the murderer because he knew that Mrs. George Johnson, at whose home Mrs. Chilton was living, was initiated. As the initiation exercises are quite lengthy the murderer would be safe in supposing that the other members of the family would retire and leave the front door unlocked for his lodge meeting.

George Johnson, cousin of the little girl, is said to have been the first to see the body of the girl believe that he had anything to do with it. The theory is that the murderer entered the house, and, mistaking little Della Johnson for Mrs. Chilton, struck the fatal blow and made his escape.

George Johnson was arrested by the blow and grappled with the assassin, but could not hold him. Johnson was cut severely across the chest, and a wound which was found in the center of the floor.

Mrs. Chilton was not in the house at the time of the murder, but she was in the yard when the assassin was seen to enter. The assassin's inquest, but was out in the yard talking to Charles Nesbitt.

TOUR OF BREATHITT COUNTY.

Woman Made Trip and Was Unmolested by Fendists.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Pittsburg, Pa., June 22.—Mrs. Helen B. Lansdowne of Cincinnati, now in this city, has completed a hazardous tour of Breathitt County, Kentucky. The Breathitt Coal, Iron and Lumber Company owned 129,000 acres of land in the feud district.

Owing to the condition of the affairs the company offered to sell, and New York and Kansas syndicates were bidders. To complete the sale it was necessary to record the deed in Jackson, Breathitt County. As much of the land is settled by squatters no attorney could be found who would go down and make the record. It was also necessary to inspect the land and make a report on it to the syndicate.

Mrs. Lansdowne was a stockholder in the company, and as it meant a loss of $5,000 cash if the deed were not recorded in Jackson, she volunteered to record the deed and make the inspection. With a tent, a small camp stove and cooking utensils, she made the tour of the whole field and no one opposed her mission.

DISSOLVES THE INJUNCTION.

Federal Government May Take Charge of the Galveston.

Richmond, Va., June 22.—In the Chancery Court to-day, Judge Grinnam dissolved the injunction restraining the United States Government from taking possession of the cruiser Gettysburg.

The Federal Government stipulates that the ship shall remain the property of the Trigg creditors until the case is determined by the court of highest resort. The Galveston will be launched this week.

TO LAUNCH VESSEL.
Washington, June 22.—The Navy Department has been informed of the release of the Galveston and steps will be taken to launch the vessel as soon as possible.

The creditors of the Trigg Company contend that the Government will be put to additional expense in completing the Galveston at Norfolk. Should extra expense be occasioned by the release of the ship, the creditors of the Trigg Company to pay any excess fixed by Congress.

James N. Tynan, Assistant District Attorney General, Post-Office Department, removed.

James T. Metcalf, Superintendent of Money-Order Division, removed.

George A. C. Christy, Assistant Attorney for the Post-Office Department, suspended, pending investigation.

Resigned.
George W. Nevers, Superintendent of the Division of Salaries and Allowances, resigned while under investigation.

3c cents each for both the complete and the half fastener.

"It is stated that the Groff brothers were willing to sell these fasteners to the Government for 75 cents, and which would have rendered them handsome profits. But the indictment sets forth that a conspiracy was established whereby the Groff brothers received only 50 per cent of the total payment by the Government for the fasteners, while the remaining 40 per cent should go to George E. Lorenz and Martha J. Lorenz.

These, it is alleged, were paid in checks, and Mr. Lorenz and his wife afterwards paid over to Machen his share. Officers of the Government who say the evidence is complete, established the "go-between" part played by Mr. Lorenz and his wife.

BRISTOW PREPARING TO PRESENT SEVERAL NEW CASES.

Postmaster General Payne had a long conference with Fourth Assistant Postmaster Bristow this evening in the latter's office. It was announced that presidential appointments for post offices were under consideration, but clerks brought in piles of documents, which showed that Mr. Bristow is preparing to present a number of new cases for the consideration of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Bristow admitted that just at present attention centers upon the divisions under fire in the bureau of the First Assistant Postmaster General, and there is no doubt that the investigation will cover every branch, as so much corruption has already been unearthed that all the divisions seem to be involved in the systematic conspiracies in one way or another.

Influential friends of James T. Metcalf, the superintendent of the money order division, who was summarily dismissed several days ago for indiscretion in letting contracts for money order blanks, are making appeal to the collection to have his case reviewed at the White House.

The appeal is made on the ground that action was taken hastily by the Postmaster General, and that consideration is due him for his twenty years of faithful service in the Post-Office Department, and that no fault has been previously found with his conduct of the office.

MAY CALL ON LOUD FOR AN EXPLANATION.

Washington, June 22.—The Washington Post to-morrow will say that among the matters which Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow is investigating is the purchase from a California company, "The Postal Device and Improvement Company," of some 17,000 devices for inducing mail.

It is also said that 7,000 of these devices originally were ordered at a cost of $4 or more each, a profit of 100 per cent on cost, and the allegation is made that a further order for 10,000 was placed, notwithstanding the original 17,000 devices were not used, but were deposited in a storehouse.

The company controlling the device was largely made up of California postal employees, and the Post will say that it is informed that Representative Loud of California, formerly chairman of the House Post-Office Committee, took an active part in behalf of the device for inducing mail.

After the company had difficulty in securing its money for the device, Mr. Loud, the Post will say, appeared at the department in its behalf, but specifically disclaimed any interest in the company other than that it was composed of his constituents. He took part in whatever the necessity or lack of necessity for the device, constituting of his had secured the contract and furnished the articles called for. Therefore, he believed, they should be paid, as the Government had stipulated to pay them.

During his recent visit to this city, Mr. Loud, on certain of his visits to the department, took up some of these unpaid bills, making it plain, however, that he appeared only in behalf of constituents and was not financially interested in the company.

It was alleged, the Post will say, that $45,000 of the deficiency of $105,000 in the free-delivery service, with which Mr. Machen is charged, was due to the purchases of the device in question, but at the Post-Office Department this was denied, and the statement made that the matter was under investigation.

Complaints also had been made, it was stated, that at the instance of Mr. Loud, the rolls at the Presidio had been padded with postal employees, but the Post-Office Department they are without any knowledge of such a thing one way or the other.

An effort was made to get a statement from Mr. Machen on the subject, but he declined either to affirm or to deny the reports.

DELAWARE MOB BURNS A NEGRO AT THE STAKE.

ing of the mob and prepared to defend the man at all costs.
Armed with pistols, shotguns and other weapons, the mob soon reached the jail, a battery of railroad iron carried away the great outer door of the workhouse. What was going on inside the lockup was not known to the mob, nor did it seem to care.

The second, third and fourth doors were battered down by the forward leaders in the attacking party, amid the yells and cheers of those who were pressing forward from the rear. Then the would-be lynchers were momentarily halted by a hail of bullets from the inside. A great howl went up from the leaders, but they were pressed forward by those in the rear.

More shooting was heard and there was a scramble to get out, but the braver ones in the attacking party stood their ground. In the fusillade that followed four persons fell, all members of the mob. They were quickly carried to the rear and attended by those who were not brave enough to be at the front. Three of the wounded were men and the other was a boy.

MOB WOULD BE SATISFIED WITH NAUGHT BUT BURNING.
It was evident that the Warden did not wish to slaughter the mob in the prison corridor, so he directed that the fire hose be turned on the crowd. This also held the mob for a time, but not for long. A general rush was made and the mob was again dragged from the cell and the prison. Then the crowd outside sent up a great cheer.

Attempts were made to shoot White on the spot, but the leaders of the crowd would have nothing but his life at the stake.
Then the march to the place of execution, just as though it were a march to the gallows in a prison, was taken up. With torches to lead the way and with 4,000 persons following the negro, he was led to the road and to almost the very spot where the assault took place.

White was given a last chance to speak, and he confessed to the murder of the girl. A stake had been arranged by an advance guard, White was quickly chained to the post and the dry underbrush, soaked with oil, was ignited, and the horrible execution by cross White, uttering intense agony, fainted and his body hung limp. Shots were fired into his body and the victim of the mob was soon dead.

The failure of the County Court to give White a speedy trial, in a great measure, responsible for to-night's tragedy.

ATTACKED WHILE ON HER WAY FROM SCHOOL.

The crime for which White was lynched was one of the most revolting in the criminal annals of Delaware.

The victim, Miss Helen S. Bishop, daughter of the Reverend E. A. Bishop, superintendent of Ferris Industrial School, would have been 18 years old next October.

She was a student of the Wilmington High School, and was on her way home from the school last Monday afternoon when she was attacked. The industrial school, four miles from here, where her parents made their home, is about three-quarters of a mile from Price's Corner, where the girl usually waited in the trolley car when she came from school.

Late Monday afternoon a farmer, working in the field, saw a young woman stagger and fall in the road. She got up and fell again, and then she tried to crawl.

The farmer and his sons went to her assistance, but when they reached the girl she was lying unconscious in the road. They learned that she was Miss Bishop. She had three ugly gashes in her throat, her body was badly scratched and her clothing was torn in many places.

In one hand she clutched a small pen-knife, which she used at school in sharpening pencils.

MAX HUNT ORGANIZED; NEGRO DENIED THE CRIME.
There was evidence that Miss Bishop had made a desperate resistance in defending herself. The wounded girl was taken home and died several hours later, without regaining consciousness.

The entire neighborhood was almost instantly aroused, and a man hunt was immediately instituted. Suspicion was soon fastened on George G. White, a negro, who was just out of the workhouse and was engaged as a laborer on the farm of Edward Woodward, near the scene of the assault.

White was found in bed. When taken into custody he denied all knowledge of the crime. He was identified by several persons, who said they saw him in the vicinity of the scene of the crime. A knife, which Mrs. Woodward said belonged to him, was found where the girl was assaulted.

White was brought to Wilmington, but later was transferred to the county workhouse where the officials thought he would be safe from mob violence.

ANSWERS WIFE'S PLEA WITH ANOTHER SHOT.

Bruce Kelly Fires at Kneeling Woman Despite Her Appeal for Mercy.

SEPARATION ANGERS HUSBAND.

Mrs. Stella Kelly's Refusal to Return to Him Almost Results in a Fatality—He Escapes.

With two serious bullet wounds in her back, Mrs. Stella Kelly yesterday afternoon left her husband and begged him not to shoot her again, but the enraged man answered the plea with another bullet which shattered the woman's left wrist, which she held over her heart.

The shooting occurred in the yard back of Ernest Gilles's restaurant at No. 266 North Broadway. Mrs. Kelly, who was separated from her husband, was employed as a waitress in the restaurant.

Shortly before the shots were fired a boy entered the restaurant and handed Mrs. Kelly a note. It was from her husband and requested that she come to the back yard, as he desired to talk with her.

Mrs. Kelly went to the yard to see her husband. Witnesses say he begged her to return to him and she refused. Then he asked her to meet him on the corner near the restaurant in the evening. Again she refused and started to enter the restaurant.

It was then that the husband
